LULA LOUNGE, 1585 DUNDAS ST. W. (ONE BLOCK WEST OF DUFFERIN ST.)

6:00 pm - midnight

The evening includes two concerts curated and conducted by two of the most outstanding Canadian composers to have emerged in the past several years - Brian Current and Scott Good. These concerts, produced by rising-star composers, are now a staple of Esprit's annual New Wave Festival. Join Brian and Scott as they showcase works by fine Canadian and international artists. The evening includes the launch of a new Centrediscs CD titled This Isn't Silence featuring Esprit in the performance of orchestral works by Brian Current.

10:00 pm late night band sets with Kanaka

Kanaka is an instrumental group that mixes elements of jazz, free improvisation, pop and world music. Their fiery covers of Greek rembetika songs are audience favorites, as are their many originals, which range from highlife-inflected dance numbers to powerful rockers. But no matter what the style, the distinctive Kanaka groove never stops.

New Sounds for Fritz Lang's Metropolis - film screening with new soundtrack - World Premiere

7:15 pm • Pre-screening chat with composer and musicians

8:00 pm • Screening of Metropolis with live-electronic film score

Drawn to the film's intense combination of lyricism and complexity, Toronto composer and electronic sound artist David Ogborn has created the latest in a growing tradition of new scores for the film. Ogborn's music for Metropolis deploys a virtuosic quartet – violinist Parmela Attariwala, soprano Kristin Mueller-Heaslip, trombonist Scott Good, and Ogborn himself on laptop - that reacts to and interacts with each other and with the film, continuing the open and improvisatory traditions of silent film accompaniment.

10:00 am – 11:30 am

Michael Colgrass Side by Side with Joanne Kong – piano and harpsichord soloist

Douglas Schmidt Grandma's Aching Back with Shauna Rolston – cello soloist

Open rehearsal for student audiences with Alex Pauk, Esprit Orchestra's conductor introducing composers and performers. An opportunity for kids to ask questions and hear firsthand about the art of composition, and the challenge of performing the thrilling pieces.

hot new wave six (6) (FREE TO THE PUBLIC)

6:00 pm • Rea Forum/Roundtable - The Paradox of Material

7:00 pm • Coffee Chat

Esprit transforms the Elgin Studio into space for a soiree. It's a great opportunity to meet the composers and soloists featured on the May 13th Finale Concert, hear mini performances by soloists (Shauna Rolston & Joanne Kong) and mingle with composers Colgrass, Schmidt and Schafer as they discuss their works and our soloists demonstrate aspects of their pieces which will be performed on Esprit's May 13th Finale Concert. Composer John Rea's annual presentation of a thought provoking paper on trends in composition and the ensuing lively open discussions have become hallmarks of the festival. This evening's Forum promises more vibrant exchanges.

Concerto for Cello and Orchestra

* world premiere, Esprit joint commission with Boston Modern Orchestra Project and the Richmond Symphony

Extraordinary soloists provide the electricity for three of this concert's compositions. American guest artist Joanne Kong plays both piano and harpsichord in the World Premiere of a "double concerto" composed for her by Michael Colgrass, Pulitzer Prize-winning composer. Canada's own Shauna Rolston is featured in works of distinctly different moods – from the Ligeti Concerto, respecting the tonal, symphonic ideal of music that moves steadily and powerfully from beginning to end with the cello as the most active member of an orchestra of soloists, to the irreverent, whacky Grandma's Sore Back by B.C.'s Schmidt, based on macabre German children's poems. The concert also includes works by R. Murray Schafer, featuring mezzo-soprano Eleanor James, to mark the launch of a new ATMA CD featuring Ms. James performing Schafer's music with Esprit. Esprit's 25th Anniversary season and a European tour will be announced.
